NEW YACHT SPEEDY IN LIGHT AIR.

Reliance Leads the Columbia in a Drifting Match Up Long Island Sound Toward Stakeboat.

FIRST AWAY AND GAINS SOME

Race Started at 2 O'Clock Over a Twenty-five Mile Triangular Course After a Long Wait for a Breeze.

TIME OF START. H. M. S.
Reliance 1 57 20
Columbia 1 58 30

(Special to The Evening World.)
GLEN COVE, May 21.—Reliance and Columbia started just before 2 o'clock in the first of the New York Yacht Club's trial races for the honor of defending the America Cup from Sir Thomas Lipton's challenger, Shamrock III.

They had been held for two hours by the Regatta Committee awaiting a steady breeze. When the preparatory gun was fired there was a feeble wind out of the northwest. The committee's boat signalled the course as follows:

First leg—Run to a mark one-half mile north by west from Neck Buoy off Eastern Point light eleven miles east by north a quarter north. Second leg—A reach of three miles west by north to and around a mark one and a half miles east of Great Captain's Island light. Third leg—To windward eleven miles southwest by south to the starting line, a total distance of twenty-five miles.

Reliance Crosses First.
Reliance was the first to cross. The wind had backed made southerly and the Columbia set made after the start was going so poorly that her fore staysail was hauled down, leaving her large jib topsail alone at her head.

Reliance had considerably increased her lead when the yachts were passing Peacock Point, about two miles from the starting line. After passing the point the wind seemed to fall away entirely and the yachts were almost motionless.

Hardly More Than Drifting.
Taking in her balloon at 2:35 o'clock the Columbia began reaching jib instead, and with the aid of this began to decrease the distance between herself and the Reliance. Capt. Barr on the new yacht did the same five minutes later. The Columbia continued to gain until the Reliance set her staysail and with the help of this drew away again.

At 2:50 she was 500 yards ahead of the Columbia. The yachts, however, had not gone 3.5 miles, there being a dead calm.

At 3:15 the yachts had gone about five miles and their relative positions remained unchanged.

The Reliance had increased her lead to half a mile by 3:40 o'clock. A few minutes later a five-knot breeze came off the shore, and the yachts began to move more swiftly. Columbia was the first to feel it. Up to that time it had been a mere drifting match.

Sorrow Over Constitution.
There was general disappointment because Constitution was not able to participate. Belmont's big single-sticker, it was announced, still lay in the Morse Iron Works dry-dock in Brooklyn undergoing repairs necessitated by the accident of Sunday. Nat Herrashoff, who was to have sailed on Reliance, went to Brooklyn this morning to examine the injuries.

At the two sloops maneuvered at the start the steamer Sirius, carrying the members of the New York Yacht Club, came out of Glen Cove decked with bunting, and a swarm of private sloops and schooners gathered like flies about the eastern end of the imaginary course. This year's Regatta Committee is made up of ex-Commanders S. Nicholson, James Newbury D. Lawton and E. H. Wells. There must be a finish in to-day's race before 5 o'clock, as the sailing instructions provide that "time will not be taken later than half an hour after sunset."

There will be four races in the present series off Glen Cove. There will be a race on Saturday, one on Tuesday night and one on Memorial Day. It is hoped that the Constitution will be in trim to start in Saturday's race. After the Glen Cove races the next series between the 40-footers is scheduled to take place off Sandy Hook on June 8 and 12. There are a number of guests aboard the Reliance, including Newbury Thorne, Woodbury Kane and W. Butler Duncan, who were especially invited by Mr.

POLO GROUNDS, NEW YORK, May 21.—Two dozen ball-players from St. Louis landed here this afternoon with bag, baggage, slouch hats, a few rainy-day trousers and plenty of ginger. They routed up Eighth avenue, swung themselves into Fred Knowles' new gateway and charged to the clubhouse like wolves upon the fold.

As the galaxy of twirlers warmed up the field looked like a windmill colony in Holland. Donovan scanned his alphabetical list and finally decided upon Sanders, a southpaw of minor league fame, having an idea that the Giants are weak in hitting left-handed pitchers.

McGraw will give Miller, Cronin and Taylor all the chance they want at the St. Louis, having each slated for a series was caught trying to get home. McGraw walked, Cronin fumbled, giving him a hit. Cronin fumbled, giving him a hit. Cronin fumbled, giving him a hit.

First Inning.
Cardinals went to bat. Farrell rapped to Dunn. Donovan took base on balls. Smoot then lifted a two-bagger in the alley near the second base line. Cronin, Brain continued the excitement by hitting clean to centre. Smoot fell left field. Barclay fumbled, giving him a hit. Cronin fumbled, giving him a hit. Cronin fumbled, giving him a hit.

Second Inning.
Dunn threw Williams out. Ryan lined to Back. Miller was retired. Dunn to McGraw. No runs. Donovan now selected another pitcher, Mr. McFarland, who was caught trying to get home. McGraw walked, Cronin fumbled, giving him a hit. Cronin fumbled, giving him a hit. Cronin fumbled, giving him a hit.

Third Inning.
Cronin handled Farrell's bunt. Donovan popped to McGraw. Gilbert threw Smoot out. No runs.

Fourth Inning.
Brain walked and stole second. Hackett fanned. Babb fielded Barclay to first, letting Brain take third. Williams was shut off early and lost a lot of ground. He closed strong and finished third, a length and a half behind Toga.

(Special to The Evening World.)
MORRIS PARK RACE TRACK, N. Y., May 21.—The only redeeming feature of the card this afternoon was the race for two-year-olds in which Nameok, Rapid Water, Precious Stone, Stalwart, Strephon and others were called to carry the colors of William K. Vanderbilt. This filly raced in the West last season as a two-year-old. Mr. Vanderbilt was not at the track. He is in France, where he is racing quite extensively. It is believed that the racing of Thoughtless today is the first step on the part of Mr. Vanderbilt toward joining the colony of American millionaires who are at present racing large strings. Mr. Vanderbilt's colors are white, black hoop on sleeves and black cap.

The weather to-day was signaling hot. The track was very fast. The attendance was below the average.

Mr. Vanderbilt's filly was withdrawn before the time of the race for which she was entered. The colors will be seen in due time, however. George Hill has several of Mr. Vanderbilt's horses in training and one of them, Hot Air, has worked very fast.

leventh Stalwart came with a terrible rush, and race king up in time to win by head. Race King was two lengths in front of Precious Stone. Stalwart is supposed to be William K. Vanderbilt's filly. It is said that this filly will receive a special preparation for the Futurity.

TERRY M'GOVERN AS A FIRE HERO.

Rescues a Woman and Her Two Children from Burning Building Opposite His Training Quarters in the Bronx.

TWO ROUNDS AND HE WON.

Terry McGovern played the part of a hero in a fire at One Hundred and Seventy-eighth street and Jerome avenue to-day. Terry is training at Johnson's roadhouse on Jerome avenue for his fight with Abe Attell.

He was awakened at 6:30 o'clock by screams from a building across the street. The former champion sprang from bed and saw smoke and flames issuing from the shoe store of Biogro Festa.

On the second floor were Mrs. Mary Wright and her two children. Terry stepped into a bathroom and sprinted across the street. Seizing an axe from a man in the shoe store he chopped down the door leading upstairs, hastened to the second floor and picked up Mrs. Wright's children.

"Follow me," he said to the woman as he started toward the street. But when Mrs. Wright saw that her children were safe she gave way to the strain brought on by the fire and fell. Terry picked her up and carried her to the street.

When Terry had deposited the two youngsters on the sidewalk he went back after Mrs. Wright and managed to rescue her after being almost overcome by smoke.

He was the hero, set to I ever had, sold the ex-champion after it was all over. There were just two rounds, but they were tough ones. I thought with the kids, and when I made a rush back for the lady it counted ten on me.

LOW TO DISMISS
STURGIS CHARGES.
The Mayor Will Formally Announce His Ruling in Favor of Fire Commissioner Very Soon.

Mayor Low has decided to dismiss the charges against Fire Commissioner Sturgis, preferred by Comptroller Grout. The formal announcement will be made known to-morrow or the next day.

Corporation Counsel Rives' opinion on the case, submitted to the Mayor to-day, is a complete exoneration for the Fire Commissioner.

Comptroller Grout's charges indicated that the Commissioner had repeatedly violated Section 419 of the charter by letting contracts in excess of $100 without public bidding. The opinion of the Corporation Counsel is based on a decision rendered yesterday by Justice Traux, of the Supreme Court, in the case of the City of New York against the City of New York.

The firm's bills were held up by the Corporation Counsel, who is the contention of the Comptroller in the Sturgis case that the Commissioner purchased material many times in excess of the $100 limit and willfully violated the law though repeatedly warned.

AUTO BLOWS UP AND 10 PERSONS ARE BADLY HURT.

Policeman and Fireman May Die as the Result of the Injuries They Received When the Tank of the Vehicle Exploded on Third Avenue and Scattered a Rain of Blazing Oil Among the Spectators.

ONE KILLED MANY HURT IN GAS EXPLOSIONS IN THE BRONX.

Houses Several Blocks Away Blown to Pieces—Swarm of School Children Passing in the Vicinity Badly Shocked—Fire Follows and Wipes Out Buildings Over a Wide Region.

The explosion of an automobile tank at Forty-seventh street and Third avenue this afternoon scattered a deluge of blazing oil on a crowd of persons. Ten of them were so badly injured that they had to be taken to Flower Hospital.

An explosion of gas tanks in the yards of the New York Central Railroad shook up the Bronx territory earlier in the afternoon. One man was killed and several hurt, and a fire followed in the wake of the explosion that had to be fought with tremendous vigor before it was mastered.

THE INJURED.
AGROSE, JOSEPH, driver, No. 175 Mulberry street.
CONE RICHARD, No. 1454 Amsterdam avenue.
HARRIS, WILLIAM, fireman of Engine Co. No. 21.
KENDRIGEN, HARRY, fireman of Engine Co. No. 8.
KOPPEL, ADOLPH, jeweller, No. 763 Third avenue.
LYNCH, J. P., nineteen years old, a blind newsdealer, of No. 848 Second avenue.
MARTIN, PETER, fireman, of Engine Co. No. 21.
NUTIN ADOLPH, twenty-one years old, of No. 567 East One Hundred and Fifty-eighth street.
TOOMEY, JOHN, policeman, attached to East Fifty-first street station.
THE CHAUFFEUR, name not known.

Ten men, including three firemen and a policeman, were terribly burned this afternoon by blazing oil scattered over their faces, hands and clothing caused by the explosion of a burning automobile. Two of the injured will die.

The automobile was owned by Peter De Witt, millionaire coal dealer, whose yards are at Forty-ninth street and the East River. It was a gasoline machine of the roadster type.

Mr. De Witt's chauffeur was taking the auto across town to be repaired. When he turned into Third avenue at Forty-seventh street he noticed that the gasoline motor was leaking badly and got off to fix it. He inadvertently opened a feed valve, and the oil caught fire and blazed up.

COULDN'T PUT OUT THE BLAZE.
Policeman Toomey, of the East Fifty-first street station, who was on the corner, went to the chauffeur's assistance, but their efforts to put out the flames were useless.

Toomey turned in an alarm. Engine Companies Nos. 8 and 21 and a hook and ladder responded. The firemen immediately attached the hose to a hydrant. A crowd of several hundred had collected about the burning vehicle.

As the firemen were about to turn the hose on the flames Theodore Vandenberg, a caretaker of the bank building on the northwestern corner of Forty-seventh street and Third avenue, stopped them and made them take it into the middle of the street. He also warned them not to throw water on the burning motor of the auto.

THEN CAME THE EXPLOSION.
The ypaid no attention to him, however, and turned a full stream on the machine. In a few seconds there was a terrific explosion. A shower of blazing oil and flakes of red hot iron was shot about on all sides into the crowd.

MAJOR EBSTEIN GETS POINTS IN BERLIN.

He Finds One Good Excise Feature and Some Police Methods Which Might Be Adopted in New York.

BERLIN, May 21.—Major Ebstein, Deputy Police Commissioner of New York, is here studying Berlin police methods. He sees one feature of the excise control that could be applied in American cities. Licenses are granted only to 11 P. M. Closing permits are subsequently issued by the police for 12 o'clock, 1 A. M., 2 A. M., etc., and are revokable by police order if places are conducted improperly. Thus the police have absolute control over the houses devoted to night trade.

One of the most curious things in the training of police probationers is the Museum, where are kept an infinite variety of criminal reminiscences—footprints on different earths, bloodstained articles, burglars' tools, counterfeiters' dies and internal machines. Lecturers explain to the new men the meaning and uses of all these things, so that they are taught what to seek when investigating crimes.

Major Ebstein is of the opinion that Berlin's additional training measures could be adopted in New York with advantage.

$73,500 FOR PORTRAIT.
Sensational Price Paid at Auction for Painting by Raeburn.
LONDON, May 21.—A sensational price, $73,500, was paid by a dealer in a London auction room this afternoon for Raeburn's portrait of Sir John Sinclair.

Sir Henry Raeburn was born at Stockbridge, near Edinburgh, in 1756. He died in 1823. He was apprenticed to a goldsmith, but educated himself in painting. He became a famous portrait painter and painted distinguished Scotch people, such as Sir Walter Scott, Sir John Sinclair, etc., and others.

Eleven Business Blocks Burned.
LIMA, O., May 21.—The business portion of Dunkirk, twenty-five miles east of here, was practically wiped out by fire to-day. Eleven business blocks, and three residences were burned. The heaviest losses were sustained by the First National Bank, Lyndak Bros. and the Dunkirk Telephone Company. Loss estimated at $100,000, partly covered by insurance.
